Welcome Letter from the Secretary General:

Dear Delegates,

It is my pleasure to welcome you all to ITSMUN'22, the fifth annual session of Izmir TAKEV Schools Model United Nations Conference. We are more than thrilled to meet you at our conference between the 10th and 12th of April, 2022.

Our theme for this year's ITSMUN is "Future Awaits", representing the notion of hope in a chaotic world. We chose "Future Awaits" because we sincerely believe that our world is waiting for its young leaders, pioneers, and collaborators like you to find solutions to the most crucial global problems.

ITSMUN'22 will draw attention to creating new and applicable solutions for current and past world issues and work on creating better solutions for the past, present, and future. The delegates at ITSMUN'22 will be representing various countries and debating on solutions as they are in the committees and councils of the United Nations.

At ITSMUN'22, we are sure that you will be meeting a future version of yourself, someone full of enthusiasm and joy and eager to learn from others. We are looking forward to meeting young ideas and great debates this April.

We aim to create the conference experience we all have missed over the last two years and hope to exceed your expectations doing so. We hope that ITSMUN'22 becomes a memorable experience for all.

Yours Sincerely,

Idil Secil

Secretary General of ITSMUN'22

Letter from the Under-Secretary General:

Hello Delegates,

I would like to welcome you all to the most exciting committee, of course in my opinion, of ITSMUN'22. If you have experienced crisis committees before, you know that this type of committees are truly different from others and it comes with its pros and cons. I personally think that crisis committees are harder than other committees but they're also more enjoyable than other committees as well. I will be honest, you'll feel like you're in a role-playing game and you will have hard times in this committee, but I can assure you that the harder the committee is, the more fun you'll have. We shaped the committee by ourselves but from now on, it is your job to shape the future of the committee and the actual future as well. Our crisis team will boost you all with crises, updates, and adrenaline. I hope this will be an unforgettable experience for all of us. I wish you all a fruitful conference!

If you have any inquiries, don't hesitate to contact me. :)

Sincerely,

Gökalp Elmas

Introduction To The Committee:

Period Through 2020-2070 and the Current Situation

The notorious 2019 pandemic known as COVID-19 was at its best to sabotage the daily lives of humanity in 2020. Governments had to issue lockdowns in order to control the situation and stop the virus from spreading. There was a desperate need for vaccines to save humanity, the global economy was collapsing and governments all around the world feared they wouldn't be able to control the situation any longer. Governments were not fast enough to develop vaccines because of the non-stop chaos, and the private companies stepped up. Their leaders, the CEOs, had the power (the money) to invest in scientists. Vaccines were developed by different companies, the global vaccination process began and millions of lives were saved. Global economy was still in turmoil but people had hope for a bright future.

Soon a war broke out: A war which was to end all wars. The world was swimming in dark waves. The war that broke out was known as the Russo-Ukrainian Conflict, it was also known as the 2022 Russian Invasion of Ukraine. Russia's president Vladimir Putin had enough of the "cold war" between Russia, China and Western countries and decided to slam his cold fists to the table. NATO, UN they were all crumbling, and the U.S. was losing power. China on the other hand was gaining power. Everybody thought this would just lead to another Cold War. But Putin was way more aggressive than his predecessors, and he wanted to be different from his predecessors. He wanted his name to go down in history. So, he did what was feared by billions. He launched an all-out-war. Western countries tried to slow down Russia with sanctions, but they couldn't stop Putin. He threatened Western countries with nukes, and nobody wanted to start a nuclear war. Ukraine was no match for Russia, but they received a lot of aid. Russians were moving across Ukraine, but the Ukrainians were defending their country quite well.

It was certain that the EU, NATO, and the UN would soon fall apart. The U.S. didn't want its reputation to go down in flames, so they made a risky move. They moved their troops into Ukraine.

Amidst this chaos, private companies were gaining more and more power. And what fed them power was chaos. They knew that a nuclear war would end the world, so they had to stop it but if they wanted to keep benefiting, they had to keep the chaos going. Everyone loves money, right? Being a mercenary was becoming a popular thing and those private organizations were building their own armies. So, in order to stop the nuclear madness, they decided that they needed a bigger chaos. With all this power and money, they could do anything, literally anything. Top secret Pentagon files were hacked, and humanity discovered something big. Something so big that it changed the whole universe. Aliens, extraterrestrial life really existed. All those science-fiction stories, they all meant something. Governments were hiding this secret for many years from the rest of humanity but now it wasn't a secret anymore. Everybody knew that aliens existed, and this led to a bigger chaos. Although this chaos stopped the war and stopped Putin from launching Russian nukes, something more destructive than nukes was going to happen. New technologies were discovered, governments have been secretly building literal space fleets to colonize the universe.

The space race was about to begin. The private companies discovered the space fleets and quickly started to build their own fleets. Due to this rapid production of heavy military machines, mother nature's resources were depleting really fast. This big news led to bigger things. NATO and EU disbanded, the UN lost power, and everyone started to be more liberal. All they started to think about is their benefits and they didn't have to be a country to think about their benefits. Private companies and other organizations started to act on their own. After this event, humanity was left without trust. The year was 2030 and humanity decided to step down and talk about these issues before something bigger happened. Private companies, governments, organizations, all of them sat down for negotiations before munching down on the "space cake". Aliens were silent and they decided not to interfere for now.

The year was 2037, every major power had space fleets and they were all ready to colonize the space. Their first objectives were to capture territories, set up bases for refueling, training and for military purposes, and get resources to build more fleets. Of course, this wasn't going to be peaceful. While major powers were trying to talk it out for many years, new organizations have emerged from the flames and nearly all the alien empires who are currently present in the solar system have mobilized their armies. In 2039, technology was fast and destructive. Weapons of mass destruction was still a topic that nobody wanted to mention but some private organizations and some governments were working on them. In 2040, the space race officially began. Everybody went on to get a piece from the cake and nearly everyone got a piece but, of course, everyone wanted more. An organization attacked other territories, and this started a major war. A war that was inevitable. This war was called the Secession War. Through 2040 - 2056, a war for territory was raging and the war mostly raged on Mars, Deimos (natural satellite of Mars), Phobos (natural satellite of Mars), Venus, Eris (a dwarf planet in the solar system), Uranus cluster, Saturn cluster, and Neptune cluster. These wars were mainly fought with infantry, space fleets and ships were just heavy military machines used like planes and tanks.

The war finally went to an end, but nothing was over. The big thing was just beginning. Alien empires were really mad at humans for destroying the peace of the solar system, so they decided to join the race. The war was over, but battles were still going on. The solar system was on the edge of another war. The year was 2070 and everybody's objectives were the same: invade, capture, colonize, destroy, and survive.

Historical Background and Character Details

5.1 Russian Federation - Yegor Novak

The Russian Federation was a major power, and it is still a major power. Under Putin's regime, Russia was aggressive and determined to make sure that Russia was in a state of glory no matter the situation. Russia doesn't like the western countries, the private corporations and organizations, Russia doesn't like anyone. Russia only likes their benefits and every power standing in the way of Mother Russia is an enemy. Russians had no way of catching up to the western countries after the Cold War, they wanted the glorious days of the Soviet Union. The chaos was a blessing for the Russian Federation. China was still rising yet America was on the brink of demolition. Russians were eager to go after the position that was about to be left open by the Americans.

With the UN, EU, and NATO losing power, the Russian Federation had the opportunity to grow. In the new world order, Russia still has a chance to reach the glory that Mother Russia deserves. But they need a leader for this, a leader who is ruthless, who has the courage to risk everything. That man was Yegor Novak. Yegor was a mercenary and a professional fixer (sort of like a hitman). A man of the cities, nightlife, and excess. He worked for money but soon he understood the world was more than just money. He joined the Russian army, and he had the discipline. After his heroic acts in the Russo-Ukrainian Conflict, he gained a huge audience. All of Russia loved him and soon he found himself in politics. He came on top with only one thing in his mind: make Mother Russia glorious again, no matter what the price is.

The Russian Federation has territories in the solar system, mostly on Mars. They have high numbers of infantry and a big space fleet.

5.2 United States of America - Kanye West

The United States of America was at the peak of technological enhancement and prosperity throughout the second half of the 20th century and the beginning of the 21st century. The economy and manpower of the United States were no match for other major powers until the 2020s. In 2013, the Republic of China's economy started to skyrocket exponentially so the world met its third global superpower. With China joining the power race, America's domination over the globe and global economy started to decrease drastically. However, with the arrival of a new president in 2020, the United States had high hopes for their future, but we all know what happened. Chaos struck upon the United States, they were losing power once again. Most of the world was against them. Their so-called allies didn't even trust them anymore. They had way too many enemies.

The people of the United States didn't think that the situation was hopeless, and it was easy to gain power again. Although they needed a better leader, someone who is wealthy enough to, someone who had the dedication, the courage needed to step up. Well, Kanye West stepped up. Kanye West or just Ye as he prefers, was a fashion designer, a rapper, an influencer with a lot of money and a global audience. Ye wasn't like his ex-wife, he wasn't needy, he wasn't that stereotypical American rich influencer, he was something else. He is a bit narcissistic, but Ye knows what he is doing. He is going to be the wealthiest man in the solar system, he is going to make America great again, he is going to be referred to as God himself and most importantly, he is going to get his wife back. But first, he must save the universe.

The United States might not be as glorious as it was, but they still have one of the strongest armies in the solar system. They have a big space fleet and an elite army which is ready to take on anything. They have a lot of territories in space, and they're mostly stationed around Jupiter.

5.3 Atlas Corporation - Jonathan Irons

Atlas Corporation is a private military corporation (PMC) and it's the largest, if not the most powerful PMC in the world. Atlas Corporation began its investments by purchasing the largest bioengineering research firm in the world in 2037. In two years, Atlas has managed to develop exoskeleton super-soldier suits and they patented it. An infantry needs an exoskeleton suit to operate in the field. Atlas tested with 3D printed weapons and munitions which turned out to be a huge success. They don't need many resources since they can literally create their own. They also patented the hover technology which can be seen in military vehicles in space. They did what the U.S. government couldn't do. Now they're a major militaristic superpower for hire.

Jonathon Irons is a man that the world needs. His ideologies and thoughts might seem evil, but he knows that he is right. For Irons, ideas don't determine who's right. Power determines who is right and he has the power, so he believes he is right. Jonathan Irons is the founder of Atlas Corporation, and he is also the CEO. Irons served in the U.S. army before he went on to create Atlas. He is a man of strict principles, and he knows that money, benefits don't bring peace. He will do anything to bring peace to the solar system, even if it takes killing millions.

The Atlas Corporation has one of the largest and powerful fleets in the solar system, they're a militaristic superpower. They are the only PMC with an arsenal of weapons of mass destruction. They have territories all around the solar system.

5.4 Federation of the Americas - Gabriel Rorke

The Federation of the Americas has dark policies. The Federation is a sociopolitical, economic, and military union of south, north and central American nations. The Federation is up for a race with other major global superpowers.

Gabriel Rorke was a former soldier in the U.S. army, after he was left by his nation to die, he got up for revenge. He met with the Federation's top leaders and took their thrones. He has one thing on his head: destroy the United States.

The Federation has a big space fleet and has a large infantry. They don't have many allies, they exist to destroy the U.S.

5.5 China - John Xina

China has long been a great force throughout every century. Even if they were a declining nation in the 20th century, they have risen from flames and reached great heights in the 21st century. Their main abilities are their large economy and manpower. They want to maintain and grow their power in the new world order by gaining territories in space and possibly knock out their main rivals, the U.S. and Russia so that China can finally be at the top.

John Xina, the president of China, has American roots. Rumor says that he is an American sleeper agent but that's almost impossible. Xina is there to make sure that China maintains and grows its power.

China has a big space fleet and a decent number of infantries. Their territories in space are small considering that they're a major power on Earth.

5.6 Icarus Armed Forces - Nick Reyes

The Icarus Armed Forces is a power in the PMC race. They're a powerful rival against Shadow Company and the Atlas Corporation but they're not as powerful as them. The Icarus Armed Forces need to gain more power in space and make allies. They need allies if they want to take on other PMCs.

Nick Reyes was a former soldier in SATO and he decided to separate and take down other PMCs. He thinks that PMCs are evil, and they need to be erased. In order to take them down, he thought that the best way was to be just like them but be more powerful than them.

The Icarus Armed Forces have a decent military, and their territories are not large in space. Remember, don't fly too close to the sun or you might burn.

5.7 Germany - Hans Blaustein

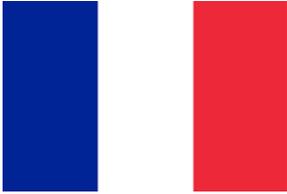

Germany has been a major power since the 18th century. German people lived the glorious days of the Prussian Empire and the German Empire.

Hans Blaustein aims to gain power and territory to form another German empire in the solar system. Hans must knock out a lot of enemies in order to achieve the Aryan dream.

Germany has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.8 France - Maximilien Garnier

Since the 16th century, the French have always left a big mark in history with their empires and republics. The case is the same, a changing world and a need for a glorious nation for the French people.

Maximilien Garnier is here to give what the French people deserve. A nation even more glorious than Napoleon's France. Although for this, Maximilien needs much more territory and power. He is determined to make his flag the best one in the solar system.

France has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.9 European Alliance - Sebastian Krueger

After the break-up of the European Union, what's left of them came together to form the European Alliance. European Families and languages mostly shared the same ancestors and were in a very squeezed geographical condition, hence there was not much division. The European Countries were almost always together, with it being the European Union or in the United Nations they always took each other's sides.

Sebastian Krueger, an ex-Austrian soldier, came on top in the European Alliance to make sure that Europe goes on to mark its name for the future.

The European Alliance has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.10 United Kingdom - Benjamin Lee

The United Kingdom's glorious days are about to come to an end. They are not doing well; they have problems adapting to the new world order. They need allies, manpower, and territories.

Benjamin Lee is an ex-SAS soldier and he watched his nation go down in flames. Now, he wants to see his nation rise like a phoenix from the ashes and he will do anything to see his nation on the top again.

The United Kingdom has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to actually happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.11 United Nations Space Alliance (UNSA) - General Mark Naird

The United Nations Space Alliance is an international political organization that handles matters related to trade, travel, land claims and all efforts relating to human space colonization. Their military forces are represented by UN Space Peacekeeping Forces.

General Mark Naird was a general in the U.S. Space Force and he got promoted to a higher place. He was promoted to make sure that peace is present in the solar system.

The UNSA Peacekeeping Forces has a large space fleet with a decent number of infantries. They must cooperate with other powers if they want to restore the peace.

5.12 Asian Alliance - Huang Shuyi

The Asian Alliance was formed when small Asian countries wanted to be more powerful. They're just like the Federation of the Americas, they have very similar ideologies. Asian Alliance wants to take down China in the new world order but in order to achieve their objective, they need more power and territory in space.

Huang Shuyi was a Chinese agent until she saw the Chinese government's true faces. She turned against her country because she thought that her people didn't deserve an evil government like China's. She gathered the people of Asia to fight against China and restore peace. She must do this in the new world order.

The Asian Alliance has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.13 Israel - Borat Sagdiyev

Israel has been a major economic, political, and technological power on Earth and they have the technology to write their name in the new world order. They don't have any territories in space yet and they must gain some in order to have a place in the future.

Borat Sagdiyev, strangely, is not Israeli or Jewish. He's a comedian from Kazakhstan. Now, Borat has a bigger task. He must do something if he wants a place in the new world order.

Israel has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to actually happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.14 G.O.R.A. - Commander Logar

G.O.R.A. is the first extraterrestrial empire that reached Earth and humanity. They have kidnapped humans to experience them and bring them back to GORA, their planet.

GORAnS are almost like humans but they have their differences. Their technology is different from what humans have but humans can definitely compete against them.

Commander Logar, the leader of GORA, deeply hates humans, especially Turks. Commander Logar's grandfather landed on Earth on the 14th of July 1789. He was "welcomed" by a Turkish farmer. Commander Logar's grandfather had a robot friend with him and let's just say that the Turkish farmer wasn't that friendly to the robot. Commander Logar's grandfather had to leave his friend there and therefore Commander Logar hates humans. He wants to destroy the solar system, but he has to do a lot to achieve his objectives.

GORA has enhanced technology when compared to humans, but the humans can still fight them. GORA has a big and powerful space fleet but their infantry is no match with human infantry. So, they have to use their space fleet strategically if they want to destroy the solar system.

5.15 Martian Empire - Krogun Krozar

All the rumors were true, there was life on Mars. Governments managed to keep this a secret until PMCs exposed them. Life on Mars is mostly underground, but the colonies are mostly based on its surface and on the satellites of Mars. The satellites are the main objective for everyone because they are rich in resources. SetDef invaded Mars and they're big enemies with the Martians. The Martians don't like humans but if they want SetDef to be gone, they must cooperate with them.

Krogun Krozar, the emperor of the Martian Empire wants his home to be filled with peace and safety again. He must kick SetDef out of Mars and he has to protect the Mars cluster as well because everybody has an eye on Mars.

The Martian Empire has a big space fleet but their infantry is not as good as their fleet. They must find a way to stop SetDef and protect Mars.

5.16 Yoda's Home Planet - Yoda

The Jedi Master was spending his years on his home planet, Dagobah, (Yoda is not originally from Dagobah but he is spending his time there) until he heard about the chaos which was going on in the solar system. He decided to interfere and do what's right.

Yoda is a legendary Jedi Master, small in size but wise and powerful. He's keen on bringing peace to the solar system.

Yoda brought some of his Jedis along and they don't have a big space fleet, but they do have some ships. The Jedi infantry are elite but low in numbers.

5.17 African Union - Viktor Metiko

The African Union consists of, well, the African continent. African nations put their differences aside and decided to become one to have a place in the new world order. They don't have any territory in space, and they must gain some if they want a future.

Their leader, Viktor Metiko, is an ex-soldier who believes Africans must reach glory in the new world order. They need to find allies if they're going to fly in the future.

The African Union has a decent space fleet, and their infantry is great in numbers. If they want their dreams to happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.18 SpaceX - X Æ A-Xii Musk

Space Exploration Technologies Corp. (known as SpaceX) is an American aerospace manufacturer, a provider of space transportation services, and communications corporation. SpaceX made its name for its ex-CEO and founder Elon Musk. Before retiring and leaving his spot to his son, Elon Musk was the brightest mind of his time. He was the wealthiest man on the planet and the investments he made for the future gave him glory. Now SpaceX is a top manufacturer of militaristic space technology and is an essential in the new world order.

X Æ A-Xii Musk, the current CEO of SpaceX, is the son of Elon Musk, and he is just as wealthy as his father. The world needs SpaceX to colonize the solar system. X Æ A-Xii Musk might want a piece from the space cake and he has unimaginable power, so the future looks bright for him.

SpaceX naturally has the greatest number of space fleets but they don't have any infantry. They don't prefer to use their fleets for now but they have a presence in space, so they have territories. They might hire an army from a PMC.

5.19 Planet Naboo - Queen Jamilia

The people of Naboo are peaceful. The Galactic Empire was called upon by humanity to stop the space chaos but it's not certain what they will do. Queen Jamilia from Naboo answered the help call and traveled to the solar system.

Queen Jamilia has one thing in her mind: help the poor, help the ones who need help. Her policies might change but nonetheless they are in the solar system. Queen Jamilia might want to gain territories for the people of Naboo and for the Galactic Empire.

Queen Jamilia has a powerful space fleet, but the ships are in limited numbers and the infantry she brought are not as elite as the humans have.

5.20 The Klaeax Colonial Empire - Moala Tamered

The Klealex Colonial Empire is an extraterrestrial empire based on the dwarf planet called Ceres. Ceresians are aggressive and barbaric creatures. They want this space war to continue so they can shed some human blood. They have eyes on Earth, and they want to invade it. Ceres has many valuable resources so it would also be a perfect planet to colonize.

Moala Tamerred must do anything to make sure that humans suffer. The Klealex Colonial Empire must colonize Earth and the entire solar system.

The Klealex Colonial Empire has a big space fleet, and their infantry are only effective in close quarters.

5.21 Shadow Company - General Shepherd

In 2035, a private army called the Shadow Company was founded by General Shepherd who is a top general in the US Army. With PMCs, a new age began in a world where a nation's army is essential to survive and ensure their power and security. Shadow Company's only ally is money and company's interests/profits.

The Company gained unimaginable power and became the second most powerful corporation in the world. Now the Company has military bases, HQs, and outposts all over the world and even in space. General Shepherd worked really hard to make this company the best and now Atlas Corporation has their throne. General Shepherd wants to destroy the Atlas Corporation and claim his throne back. The PMC race is something personal for General Shepherd.

Shadow Company has a big space fleet and has a big number of infantries as well. They have territories in space, but they have to win the PMC race and take down their enemies if they want a future for the company.

5.22 SATO (Solar Associated Treaty Organization) - Kyle Garrick

SATO

SATO is a multi-national force from selected UNSA countries, responsible for system wide security. SATO has close ties to UNSA and SATO was founded after the Secession War to counter SetDef. SATO's main objective is to erase SetDef from the system and they might gain the power for this if they can find more allies.

Their leader, Kyle Garrick, is determined to put an end to SetDef.

SATO has one of the best space fleets in the solar system and their infantry may not be great in numbers, but they're surely elite.

5.23 Settlement Defense Front - Salem Kotch

The Settlement Defense Front (SDF), also referred to as SetDef or simply the Front is a militaristic authoritarian state that originated on Mars and seceded from the Earth's influence during the Secession War. SetDef has the most colonies in the solar system and they are willing to do anything to protect their colonies in space. SetDef see themselves as the true inheritors of the solar system and believe their way of life to be stronger and more pure than others. They don't want any other colonies in space other than themselves and they act with hostility to everyone. Their main rivals are the UNSA, SATO, and the Martian Empire. Everyone wants to take SetDef down, but some want to join them.

Their leader Salem Kotch has British roots and he's against the ideologies of freedom and democracy because of the SDF propaganda. SetDef is a totalitarian fascist state terrorist organization which acts like a normal nation. They're aggressive and Salem Kotch will do anything to protect the regime of SetDef.

SetDef has one of the largest space fleets and space armies in the solar system. The solar system almost belongs to them. Some delegations have similar ideologies with SetDef and if they don't become allies, their rivals will become one and hunt them.

5.24 Turkish Republic - Commander Kenan

With the collapse of the European Union and the conclusion of the Syrian civil war, Turkey expanded its borders up to Syrian lands. With the disintegration of the United Nations, Greece fell short of military and material support, which created an opportunity to declare a war on Greece. In this way Turkey added more to its lands. They consider themselves to have achieved their 2023 goals eventually even if it is after a few years. As they become more and more vigorous countries, they unite with other nations. Now Turkey wants to be one of the major powers in the solar system, but they know that they can't do it on their own. So, they must find powerful allies if they're going to dominate the solar system and reach the glory that the Turks deserve.

Commander Kenan is a living legend, he's a folk legend. People say that he has been alive for more than five hundred years. Well, he looks like he's 60. According to him, his life sources are his nation, and his Turkish blood.

Turkey has a decent space fleet and a decent infantry. If they want their dreams to actually happen, they need to gain power and territory.

5.25 Solar System Defense Force - Arif Işık

The Solar System Defense Force was put together to fight the threatening and dangerous extraterrestrial life forms, such as G.O.R.A. and the Kleaex Colonial Empire. Solar System Defense Force or SSDF for short, doesn't have a specific nation. People all around the solar system got together and formed this force.

SSDF leader, Arif Işık, was captured by Commander Logar and was prisoned in G.O.R.A. After Arif escaped and defeated Commander Logar, he knew that they would be back to wipe humanity out from the universe. So, he formed this force and he is leading it to defend humanity and the solar system. SSDF doesn't have a flag and instead of flags, they use traditional Turkish carpets as the force's symbol.

SSDF has a big space fleet with a decent infantry but if Arif is aiming to protect humanity and the solar system, and defeat G.O.R.A. once and for all, he'll need more power and territory.

Conclusion

There's a lot of chaos. There will be a couple of outcomes. Everybody destroys each other, humanity is long gone, everybody continues to live in peace... It's all up to you to shape the future.

Gain power and territory, knock your enemies out, make allies and don't die.

The story will revolve around the solar system, major places are:

- Earth
- Mars and its satellites
- Jupiter
- Venus
- Eris
- Uranus cluster
- Saturn cluster
- Neptune cluster
- Ceres

Basically, the solar system.

Directive Writing

Just as the resolution paper is required in General Assembly Committees in order for the committee to take action, in Crisis Committees actions are taken via directives. Therefore, knowing how to write a directive is essential. For that reason, this section has been prepared in order to explain the types of directives.

A directive can either be a:

- a. committee directive,
- b. joint directive,
- c. personal directive.

Writing a committee directive is compulsory if the topic in consideration is related to the entire committee. Besides, the committee directive shall be introduced and voted upon, demonstrating similarities with the introduction, and voting of a resolution paper. Furthermore, in order for a committee directive to pass, a simple majority is required.

Relatively if the topic which the delegates wrote the directive upon is not necessarily a matter of the entire committee, but it involves the contribution of more than one individual member, the directive is deemed as a joint directive. And for this type of directive, it is crucial to have the signatures of all the contributors.

Lastly, if it is an individual matter and not related to any other member of the committee, the delegate is supposed to write a personal directive.

Moving on, it should be noted that after the directives are written, it is in the committee board's discretion to either grant them or not. And mostly if the directive is not up to standards, it will be ungranted and the delegates will be asked to rewrite.

So, a directive can be seen as a good directive mainly considering the action plan part, but a directive must include;

1. Date/Time
2. From
3. To
4. Type of the directive
5. (Top Secret)
6. The Action Plan
7. Signature

1. In order to prevent any conflict (such as two directives against each other and choosing one would lead to the elimination of the other or the updates received based upon the directive processing clearly) you should include the date (which will be provided by the academic team since this is a futuristic committee) and time you write the directive.
2. You must include your allocation. Who is supposed to send this directive?
3. To whom you are sending this directive? It should be noted that it is not acceptable to write 'to crisis team' or 'to chairs'. However, if it is unknown to you at that point, you can write 'to the related department'.
4. You must state the type of directive (committee/joint/personal)
5. Since it is possible for you to act without anyone else's knowledge, if it is what you desire of course you should state whether the directive is a TOP SECRET. If it is not a top-secret directive you do not have to fill out this part. Also please keep in mind that the committee directors are allowed to read your top-secret directives as long as they are not participant chairs.
6. This section must include everything you decided to take action upon. You must be very specific and realistic. For example, it is not acceptable to just write that you are declaring a war. You are required to answer how? what? when? who? where? why? etc.
7. This part has to include the signatures of the ones that agree to this directive.

Please don't forget that you can always contact me if you have questions regarding the conference and the committee.
